PARKING . . .

vided on a few centrally located lots as opposed to the proposed decentralized regular parking lots, Stevens explained that multi-level parking is more expensive and creates traffic control problems.
Multi-level parking costs $2000 per space while regular parking lots cost around $600 per space.
City Hall Trade
Stevens indicated that negotiations are now going on with the State Department of Employment in order to exchange the city hall property (police station, fire station, and city hall) for State property at Engracia and Cravens which could be used for parking purposes.
"This is not intended to be an even trade," Stevens said. "However, I think that the State might find the buildings which we are about to abandon for our new site ideally suited for their own purposes."
Procedure
Procedure for obtaining the lots for off-street parking are as follows: 1) set boundaries; 2) get landowners' reaction; 3) circulate petitions; 4) obtain 51 per cent of the signatures; 5) have petitions verified by city clerk; 6) make debt limit report; 7) hearings by city council, a) ordinance of intention, b) debt limit report; 8) secure property through negotiations or condemnation; 9) selling the bonds; 10) have City Council establish parking space commission.
At present, attempts are being made to get the land-
